MANCHESTER HIGH SCHOOL

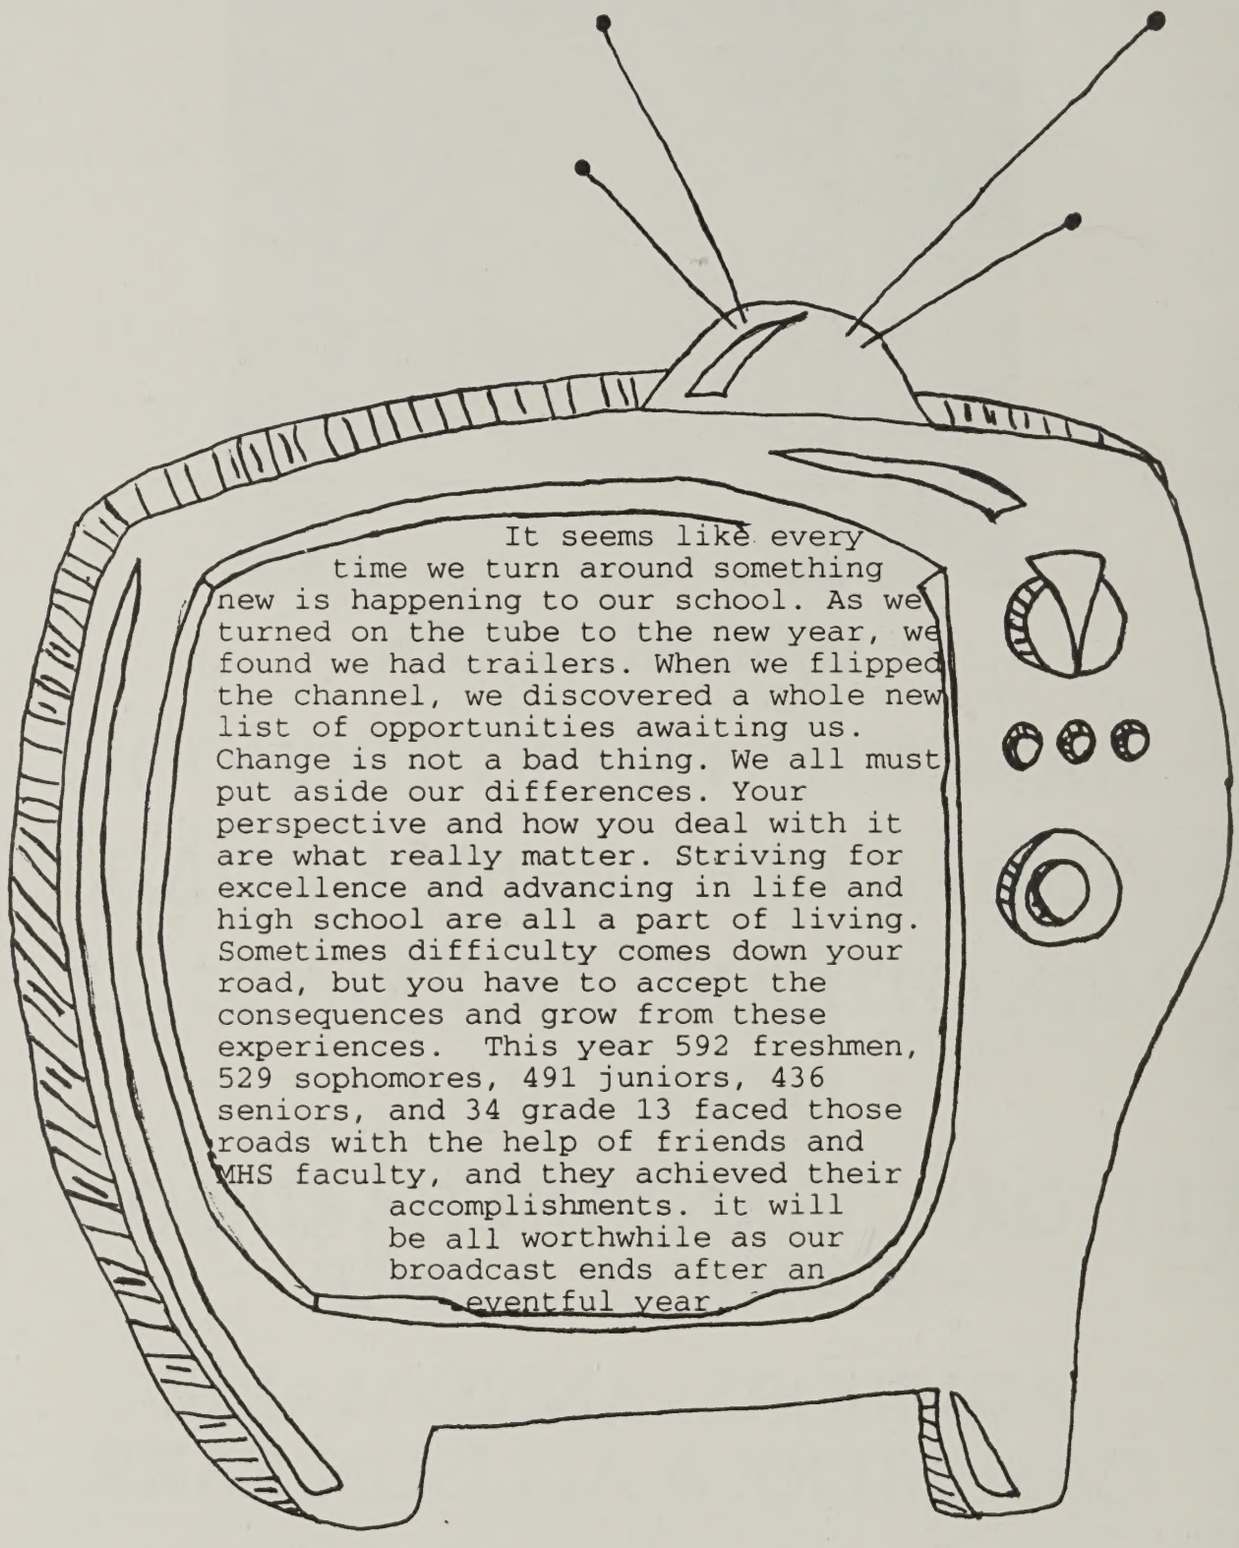
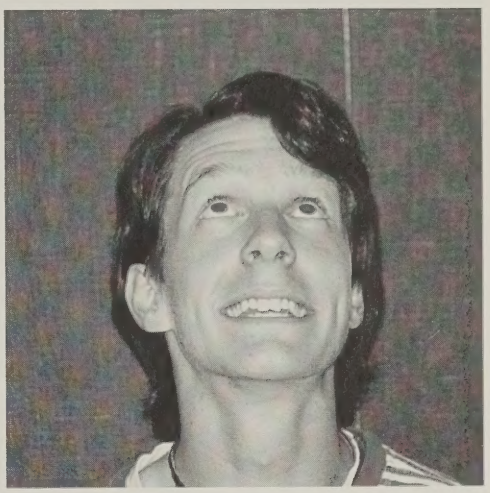
CHESTERFIELD COUNTY (VA) LIBRARY



It seems like every time we turn around something new is happening to our school. As we turned on the tube to the new year, we found we had trailers. When we flipped the channel, we discovered a whole new list of opportunities awaiting us. Change is not a bad thing. We all must put aside our differences. Your perspective and how you deal with it are what really matter. Striving for excellence and advancing in life and high school are all a part of living. Sometimes difficulty comes down your road, but you have to accept the consequences and grow from these experiences. This year 592 freshmen, 529 sophomores, 491 juniors, 436 seniors, and 34 grade 13 faced those roads with the help of friends and MHS faculty, and they achieved their accomplishments. it will be all worthwhile as our broadcast ends after an eventful year.



Here's a story
of a bunch of students who all went to Manchester
every day.
They were quite diverse,
not like each other.
They balanced work and play.

It's the story
of a bunch of teachers
and a bell that rang routinely every hour.
School lunches
that cost a fortune
and administrators with the power.

Till the one day when the students graduated,
and they knew that it was much more than a hunch that in four years they had formed a family.
That's the way we all became
Manchester's Bunch
Manchester's Bunch,
Manchester's Bunch.
That's the way we all became
Manchester's Bunch!

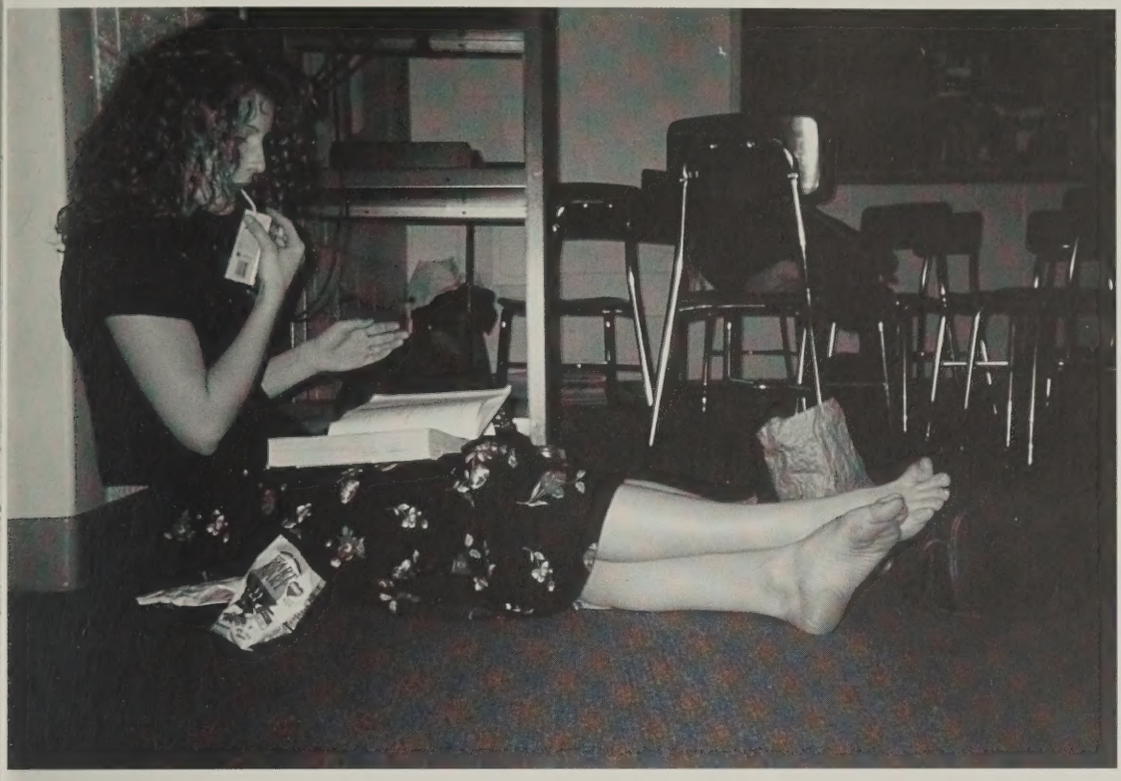
Lancer Life

The Days of Our Lives

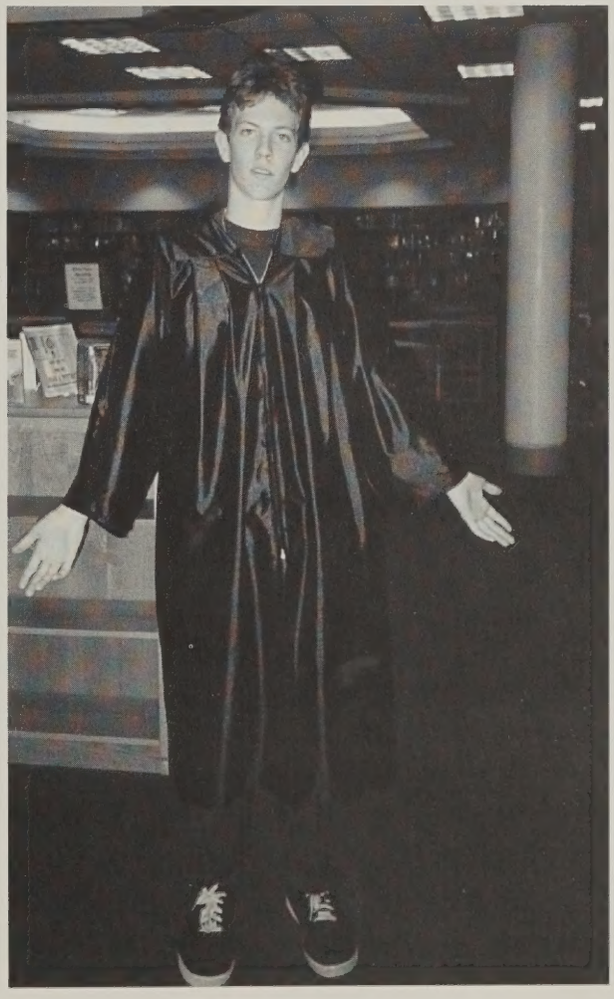
Like grains of sand through an hourglass . . . the days of our lives have flown by this year! Lancers kept busy with a variety of activities both during and after school, and the plot lines of most student's lives have been better than fiction. The Young and the Restless . . . The Kids in the Hall . . . even The "A" Team . . . so many shows on television could summarize what we have experienced and accomplished in 1996. MHS is like The Head of the Class, but with a twist . . .

How many kids does it take to get to the money in a vending machine? Manchester's determined students count: one . . . two . . . three . . .

After the "hunger inside" makes stomachs rumble, Manchester students know that it's time to take five. After all, who really needs a cafeteria?



Fans of Manchester don't mind sitting in the rain to see the Lancers. Their support warns the opposing team to "get back in the bag," as the M&M's say.



"Maybe someday I'll graduate," dreams freshman Mathew D. Ellett as he tries on a commencement gown.

What would Manchester High be called if it were a television show?

.....

1. NYPD Blue and Orange

2. Enslaved by the Bell

3. As the Tone Rings

4. Manchester High, 23112

5. The New Adventures of League and Koste

6. Just the 2000 of Us

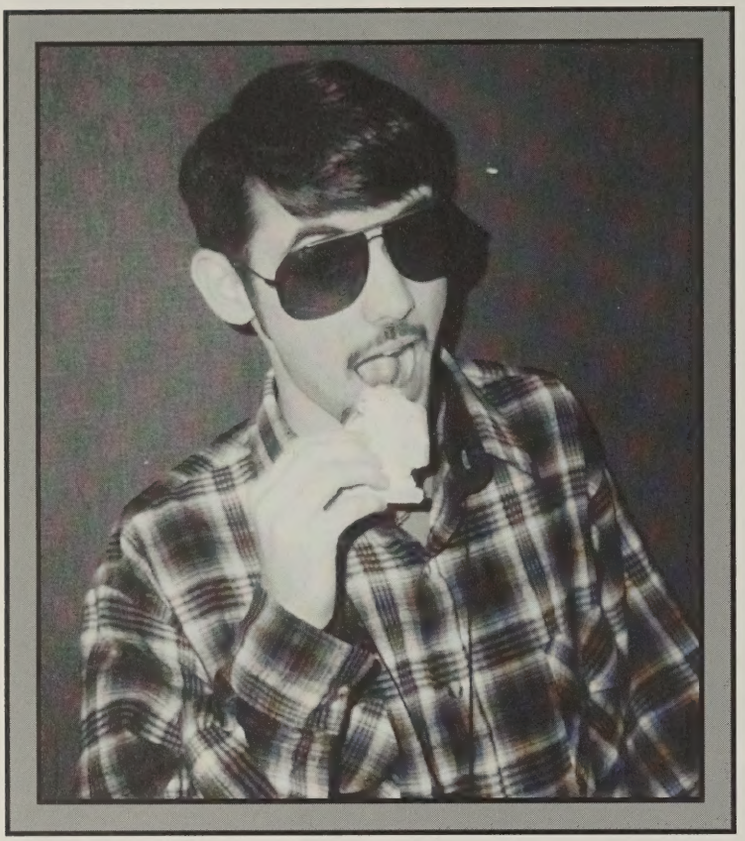
7. The Young and the Clueless

8. Third Rock from the Sun and Five Miles from Wendy's

9. Three's Company (and 2000 Is a Crowd)

10. Leave It to Lancer

It's Time for a Commercial Break . . .



"SO COOL IT'S HOT, SO HOT IT'S COOL . . ."

"LOOK MOM, NO CAVITIES!"

"IT MELTS IN YOUR MOUTH, NOT IN YOUR HANDS . . ."

"SQUEEZABLY SOFT!"

"THE BEST PART OF WAKING UP . . ."

MHS . . . "IT DOES A BODY GOOD"

"DOUBLE DOUBLE YOUR REFRESHMENT, DOUBLE DOUBLE YOUR ENJOYMENT . . ."

"IT KEEPS GOING, AND GOING, AND GOING . . ."

Now Back to Our Show . . .

Ashley E. Broseker makes a run through the tunnel of cheerleaders before the game.

Bosom Buddies: The Powderpuff cheerleaders rally to support the players.

With determination in their eyes, the seniors face off against the juniors as the Powderpuff game begins.

The tension between the junior and senior classes grew stronger as the big game got closer. With the kick-off, emotions exploded, and the junior and senior Powderpuff girls battled for victory on the field. The players were out for blood; the cheerleaders gave the school supporters a good laugh. These crazy guys were disguised under layers of makeup and hairspray. Although the rivalry was intense, the juniors played hard against the seniors, and the game ended in a tie.

Gary O. Maddox is crowned King Puff by Rachel Stuhlmiller.

Keri E. Gardner aims and kicks, helping the seniors to soar.

Heart to Heart: The Blood Drive

Manchester students who were seventeen or older were asked to participate in this year's blood drive, and the response by both the student body and the faculty was astounding.

Students and teachers alike piled into the auxiliary gym and were quickly seated. After a brief interview, those who still wished to donate bravely stepped forward and did so.

Pale faces and pallid expressions told a story all their own, but the selfless students and teachers persisted to compassionately donate their own blood for those in greater need.

Tara E. Mounts bravely watches as she donates to help those in need during Manchester's 1995 Blood Drive.

The hardworking staff helps to make Manchester's Blood Drive a success.

Jason A. Benfer and Sandy Leyo donate blood for Manchester's cause.

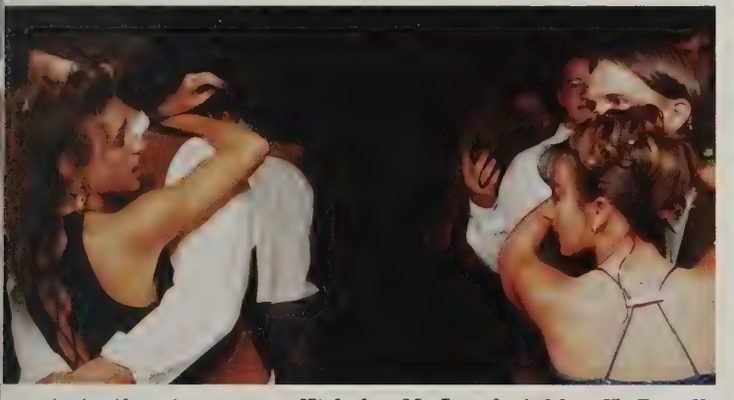
Homecoming

Pump Up The Volume

Had strangers been waltzing through the halls dur-ng Manchester's Spirit Week this year, their reaction rould be most interesting. With identically clad twins oaming the halls on Monday, seventies flashback tie-yes illuminating Tuesday, Wednesday bringing the rackiest-tackiest out of us all, differing ages appearing n Thursday, and Friday closing the week with school-pirited orange and blue, it probably would have eemed like a carnival.

With Friday also came the much anticipated pep ral-y. Although the game was rained out Friday night, the nergy from the assembly carried them over to Sat-rday. George Wythe fell short to the Lancers with an mpressive score of 21-7.

The same pressures that had been built up during pirit Week came out full strength on Saturday night as tudents prepared for the dance. The night was capped ff picture-perfectly as those who were enjoying the olitude of the senior courtyard witnessed a shooting tar fall listlessly from the sky.



ove is in the airwaves as Nicholas M. Snead, Ashley N. Powell, ritton C. Marable, Lynne E. Hollon share a dance.

Manchester's football team works hard to stop George Wythe early in he game.

The sophomore class rocks the gym during Friday's pep rally.

Peyton N. Owens and Shawn L. Stewart prove that the sky is the limit.

"Sunday, Monday — happy days!
Tuesday, Wednesday — happy days!
Thursday, Friday — happy days!
Saturdays — happy days!
Groovin' all week with you!
These days are o-u-u-r-r-r-s-s
(those happy days!)"

-Happy Days

The Bad Boys of Manchester

The rain falling on Friday night could not dampen Lancer spirit. Although the Homecoming game was rained out, the Lancer fans' energy carried the team over into Saturday, where neither the weather nor George Wythe could stop the Lancers from winning.

The parade preceded the rain on Friday, and Manchester's 1995 Homecoming parade was a success. The various clubs impressed the onlookers as their floats glided by, but it was the determination and hard work of the science club that took first prize.

"Saturday Night Fever" Meets "Gilligan's Island"

Decorations strung across the commons created the mood of the homecoming dance by mixing the bright fashions of Mardi Gras with the tropical warmth of the Bahamas. Palm trees, colorful face masks, bead necklaces, netting, and grass huts all contributed to create the festive spirit of "Junkanoo".

"Sit right back and you'll hear a tale, a tale of a fateful night, that started out at our high school dance where Junkanoo took flight, where Junkanoo took flight . . . "

"Burn baby, burn, disco inferno!"

Enjoy the dance — this Junkanoo is for you!

The 1995 MHS Homecoming Court anxiously awaits the announcement of the king and queen.

Newly elected King and Queen Peyton N. Owens and Ashley M. Davenport commence the royal dance.

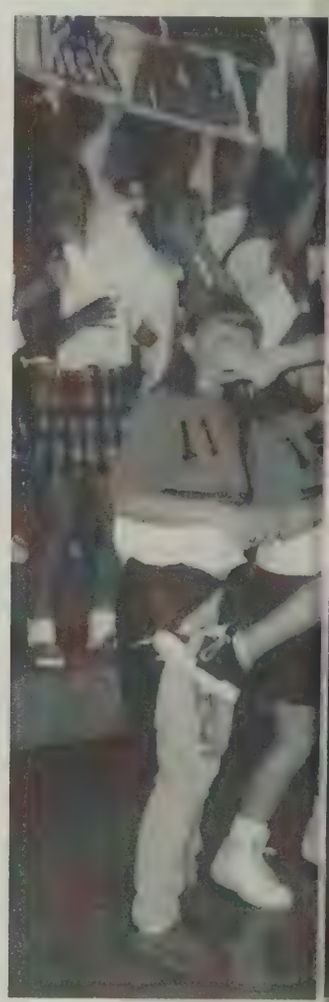
PEOPLE

"The Kids in The Hall"

Who are the kids in the hall? This a question all Manchester students have as they enter Manchester High School. With over 2000 students looming the hallways, it can become a bit confusing as to who is who. Four middle schools feed into Manchester giving it a unique and diverse atmosphere. In the blur of hallway traffic, one can see through flourescent lighting, Urkel, Screech, Jordan, Phoebe, Rachael, Elaine, or even "the Kramer." From these individual characters the whole view of the Manchester student body is shown.



Two senior class officers Sarah L. Malone and Gary O. Maddox recruit members to join the senior class council.

Lori E. Bradley, Patrick A. Penn, and Amanda M. Stafford break from school day activities to pose for a yearbook candid.

Whitney A. Tharp's school spirit is evident as she "cheers" for the crowd at a pep rally.

Sarah J. Krysztofik and Ashley M. Augostini accept ballots for prom themes.

What character on a T.V. show do you most resemble and why?

- Mr. Goss resembles Frasier because he is intelligent, insightful and profound.

- Jessica Simpkins most resembles Hilary from "The Fresh Prince of Bel-Air" because of her spirit and "ability to accessorize."

- Ryan McClay resembles Bob Sagot from "America's Funniest Home Videos" because of his facial expressions.

"Where everybody knows your name,"

SENIORS

To strive for excellence and the ability to make the imaginative the visible was what motivated the seniors this year. First year senior sponsors, Ms. Adkisson and Ms. Schumate, faced the challenge of leading the large senior class through an event-filled school year. A significant time in each students life came to a close. A time when many of them discovered who he or she really was and who they wanted to become, who their friends were and who they wanted them to be. A time where the size of the school became obsolete and the size of the world became pertinent. Remembering these years will bring a smile, a tear, or a memory they will not soon forget. As the year got underway, seniors realized just how close in sight graduation was when they placed their orders for caps, gowns, and announcements. The first class to complete all four years at the new Manchester, the class of the 95-96 school year had grown in size as well as diversity. It was a year to reflect upon the past twelve years of each of their lives. Growing individually as well as a whole made Manchester realize that the senior class of 1996 was a place where everybody knew your name.

"Making your way in the world today takes everything you've got. Taking a break from all your worries, sure would help a lot. Wouldn't you like to get away Sometimes you want to go, where everybody knows your name, and they're always glad you came. You wanna be where you can see our troubles are all the same. You wanna go where everybody knows your name."

Jennifer E. Reece, Sarah L. Malone, Jennifer M. Overbagh, and Ashley P. Hutchison excitedly cheer after the seniors win the spirit stick.

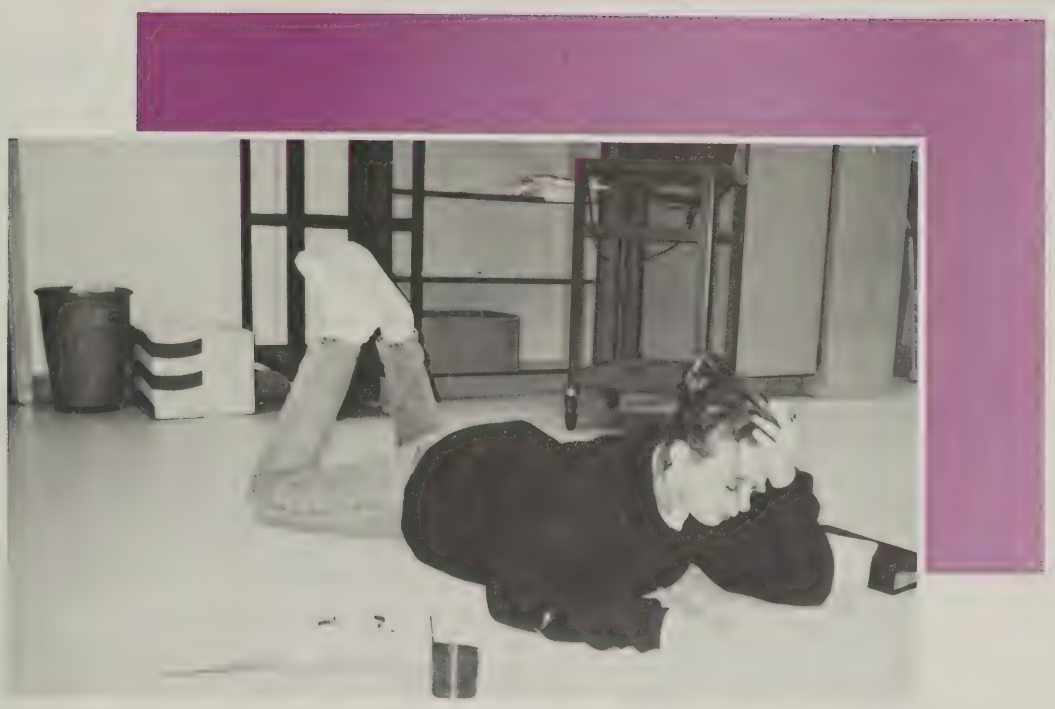
"A teacher affect eternity; he can never tell where his influence stops."



Dazed and confused senior, Alison P. Surpless is at a loss; she is apparently "stressed out" by all the work associated with being a senior. Being "stressed out" was a common occurrence for seniors as early application deadlines for colleges and scholorships were seemingly ceaseless. Many seniors memorized their social security numbers for the first time after writing it a plethora of times. When will it ever end?

NO TIME FOR

Seniors agonize over application deadlines as many realize this is not the year to "slack off!"

enior year. To most of the students this brought the onset of things ke electives and senior skip days. To others this meant a load of 5 to AP classes and endless studying nights, or maybe mornings for ome. Aside from the usual school load most seniors held down a job nd still found time to fill out those dreaded applications. The Guidnce Department became swamped in late November and early Deember when procrastinators rushed to finish their applications for arly decision deadlines. Mr. Felts says if it's the first time they are te with applications he's nice and understanding, but he gets ritated with repeat offenders. When students come to Mr. Geary and ask him to mail something the next day he replies, "it all depends on your assets and how much you have in the bank." The majority of the senior class waited until the last minute to complete their applications only to discover it required a personal statement or essay. English teachers were often asked to assist with the students' essays or write recommendations. Senior Brian K. Maddox says he disagrees with the stereotypical slacker image given to most seniors. Brian says he has worked extra hard to be exempt. Although college applications were a hindrance to blowing off senior year, they weren't detrimental to our health once they were completed.

JUNIORS

Friends

uniors arrived in September anticipating the year's nany exciting events. Rings, the icon of the junior ear, were presented by class officers Andra L. Teten, Iegan A. Hall, Kelly P. Thornton, and Sarah J.
rysztofik. After the eagerly awaited ring distriution, juniors took on the task of finding 97 people
o turn their rings and left the ceremony with yet nother piece of Manchester memorabilia. Juniors ntered Spirit Week, more enthusiastic than ever.
uring the annual Powderpuff Game, the Juniors led the Seniors for the first time ever with a 12-12 core. Placing third in competition at Homecoming, he float was a great effort by the enthusiastic Jun-or council. Junior Princesses Andra L. Teten and ameron A. Miller, and Princes Omari A. Watkins and ntwan A. Roots were recognized at the homecoming ance, "Junkanoo!" To raise money for prom, the uniors carried on the tradition of selling Value hecks. For the first time at the new Manchester, rom was not held in the student commons. Instead, t was held at the VCU ballroom. It was in our junior ear that we all realized that these were the friends hat would remain in our memories for the rest of ur lives. The friends at Manchester who would always be there for you . . .

"It's like you're always stuck in second gear.. When it hasn't been your day, your week, your month, or even your year . . . I'll be there for you, when the rain starts to pour. I'll be there for you and you're there for me, too . . . "

Sophomores

The sophomore class got off to an exciting start this year by quickly proving themselves as the loudest, most enthusiastic, and the most spirited of all the classes at the first pep rally of the year. During Homecoming/Spirit Week, the sophomores ruled the school with creative flair and imaginative talent. On Tye-Dye Day, sophomores pulled from their closets the coolest, most awesome tye-dye attire. Wacky Tacky Day proved to be just that, wacky and tacky. On Age Day, sophomores showed their high awareness of college life by dressing as college students. Orange and blue proved to be the colors of Spirit Day. By painting their faces with the school's colors and wearing orange and blue clothes, sophomores proved their spirit. Although the class float did not place in the parade, they heated up the dance floor on Homecoming with their groovy dance moves. During Thanksgiving, sophomores donated canned food and money for a needy family's turkey dinner. For Christmas, the sophomores pooled their money for gifts for a family in the area. Although the sophomores may be third in line for graduation, they show through themselves that they are not fourth, not third, not even second, but first in personality, character, and school spirit.

"Show me that smile again. Don't miss another minute of your crying. Whether we're near the end, the best is ready to begin . . . As long as we've got each other we can do anything that comes our way . . . Rain or shine, all the time, we've got each other sharing the laughter and love."

Driving Me Mad!

One of the better things that sophomores have to look forward to is Driver's Education. With the lowering of the legal driving age to 15, most sophomores can now get their learner's permit sooner. This makes Driver's Ed. all the more important and getting a passing grade in the class all the more crucial. If Driver's Ed. is not passed, the student can't get a shot at behind the wheel, which is the ultimate test to prove whether or not you can drive to school next year.

Tale of a Forgotten Sophomore

Ah, the pangs of growth! Do you remember talking to your parents about high school? Remember how they never can recall what happened their sophomore year? Why do sophomores seem so invisible? It's not like they are not there. They walk the halls and eat lunch in the same place as everyone else; however, they have to learn to deal with a familiar problem; becoming a sophomore made them the middle child. Like all other second-borns, they are the dividing line of Manchester High School. Sophomores participate in school activities; they make a homecoming float, design a spirit door, and are as loud, if not louder, than the rest of the classes at the pep rallies. They have spirit and confidence in their class and school. Sophomores have the luxury of an abundance of time; two years remained in their high school career. Despite the growing pains of their often ignored position in life, all the transitions of the second high school year have helped students to adapt and to grow and to prosper.

"When you're lost out there & all alone . . . "

Freshmen

Whatever happened to the old, familar place, waiting just around the corner? Everywhere one went, everywhere one looked, there was somebody looking for direction. With 898 students, there were many searching faces in the crowded halls of Manchester High School. However, when one was lost out there and all alone, there were always caring people to help them along. Going from middle school to high school was a big change; there were so many new opportunities in store for those fresh, new faces. Along the way everybody needs a little help from some fellow peers, and the President Laura Wood, Vice President Jamar Hicks, Secretary Jennifer Macquin, Treasurer Sarah Tuck made sure that they always lent a helping hand to all. Many hours were spent by the freshman class officers in the homecoming parade float. The entire class helped with the dancer spirit links and won for having the most. In the door and mask contest the class received second place. Not only was this class a spirited one, but it was a giving one too. Everywhere one went, everywhere one looked, the freshman class was reaching out to each other, the community, and to the student body of Manchester High School.

"Whatever happened to predictability? The milkman, the paperboy, evening T.V? Do you miss your familiar friends there, waiting just around the bend . . . ? Everywhere, there's a heart right here to hold onto. Everywhere you look there's a place for somebody who needs you. When you're lost out there and all alone, life is waiting to carry you home . . . . everywhere you look . . . "

"WHEN YOU WISH UPON A S.T.A.R."

S.T.A.R.S Peer Tutoring

"Everybody needs somebody sometimes," and for students here at Manchester whose grades are less than perfect, the S.T.A.R.S. peer tutoring program was a successful solution to academic dilemmas. Held during all lunches and study periods, S.T.A.R.S was open to anyone who would like to receive help in any subject. Students volunteered their time or received a nomination to become a peer tutor. The program was run by four dedicated teachers: Mr. Mooney, Mrs. T. Wilbourne, Ms. Flory and Ms. Russell. Amy M. Deeth, a student in Ms. Thorpe's community service class, was the student coordinator this year. She was helped by many student volunteers who coordinated schedules and matched students with tutors. The bright and airy atmosphere of Mrs. Wilbourne's room helped students to tune in to motivational learning, where everyone could work in pairs or groups to improve their understanding of a variety of subjects. The most positive thing about the S.T.A.R.S. program, however, was the rise in grades that participants experienced. The program did an excellent job of proving that, "where there's a will, there's an A'." Tutors were always needed, and Ms. Russell conducted her annual "Star Search" in October to recruit new volunteers. The S.T.A.R.S. program was an overall huge success in its third year at Manchester, proving "the more you know . . . " was important to both Manchester faculty and students.

Amy M. Deeth does more than just help stu dents.

Ms. Russell and Amy M. Deeth collaborate and coordinate their plans.

Teacher of the Year

19 96

Hence . . . ..

Years of dedicated service. A strong commitment to educating youth. A desire to never stop learning. Respect from her students and admiration from her colleagues . . . Hence . . . . Manchester High School's Teacher of the Year for 1996. Barbara Thorpe began her career in 1968 as an elementary teacher and moved on to middle and high school. She currently teaches AP U.S. History and Community Service while also serving as the Social Studies Department Chair. She recalls her transition to high school as one that made her apprehensive at first, yet she doesn't regret it at all. After 27 years, she has never had a second thought about her profession, claiming that it has always been something she wanted to do.

When asked what she has learned from her students, she responded, "Patience." That is not all. Mrs. Thorpe feels that a good educator is one who never stops learning. She says that her students have always kept her on her toes. Because of her commitment to excellence in education, Mrs. Thorpe is trying to build up Manchester High School's Community Service Program while also looking for new and interesting ways to approach her curriculum. It would be hard to determine where Mrs. Thorpe's influence stops. One thing's for sure; her students will never forget he favorite phrase:
"Hence, the . . . . . "

Mrs. Abernathy

According to Dennis Rogers, Real Teachers, pound for pound, are the most overworked, underpaid, overstressed, undervalued, and desperately needed workers in our society.

But, Lord love'em, they have not lost their sense of humor.

The Wake County Association of classroom teachers has put together a funny, funny list of ways you can spot a "Real Teacher." I don't know who wrote it, but it is worth considering. It is proof that in the very best humor, there is great truth revealed.

Some examples:

Real Teachers have disjointed necks from years of writing on the chalk board without turning their backs on classes.

Real Teachers grade papers on buses, under the hair drier, during commercials, in school assemblies, on potty patrol and at faculty meetings.

Real Teachers pray for snow days, too.

Real Teachers hate assemblies more than you do.

Real Teachers volunteer for bus duty on days when faculty meetings are scheduled.

Real Teachers wear crepe soled shoes so they can sneak up on you.

Real Teachers can't read a book without making notes in the margins and underlining.

Real Teachers never sit without first checking the seat of the chair.

Real Teachers can recite, on command, the dates of the ACC Championship basketball game and the first day of hunting season.

Real Teachers can eat their lunch in two minutes and thirty one seconds.

Real Teachers buy tissues and Band-Aids in case lots.

Real Teachers act like they remember you when you meet them twenty years later.

Real Teachers are "really surprised" by surprise parties for them.

There are never enough "Real Teachers" to go around.

CNN MANCHESTER

Hello, and welcome to Manchester network, home of the finest stations to hit high school airwaves. Here on CNN, newscasters Man Smith and Chester Brown bring you the year's stories in a nutshell . . . .

Inquiring students want to know: could this masked person be Manchester's mysterious mad bomber?

THIS JUST IN . . .

This past October, Chesterfield County Schools made the 7-period alternating schedule mandatory in all high schools. This policy will take effect during the 1996-1997 school year, and it was met with fierce opposition. A student-led protest at Monacan High School was held to show that the 4-by-4 block schedule worked better and that the students had improved their grades. Despite opposition, many students were pleased to find that they would have the opportunity to take more classes and add electives to their schedules.

OUR TOP STORY . . .

During March, the Manchester administration invoked a new fight policy after a string of scuffles ravaged the halls of the school. The altered policy involved students viewing a fight in the halls or following the students about to become involved in a fight. If a person does not walk away from the fight or attempt to stop it, he/she is immediately in contention for suspension from school.

THIS YEAR'S WEATHER . . .

One snowflake swiftly fell upon the frozen ground on a Friday night in January . . . and stuck. Soon after, Chesterfield County was blanketed in white, closing schools for nearly 2 weeks. Everyone was left playing games, watching movies, or sledding down hills. The "Blizzard of '96," a whopping 18 inches of powdered insanity, kept most at home with their parental units. Finally, snowflakes turned to puddles and ice turned to slush and back to school we went, only to partake in yet another horrendous snow storm—mother nature took her toll. Snow is no longer wished for, because, quite frankly, we were all tired of it!

BULLETIN:

New staff! Teachers Lisa Hall, Jeff Cole, Heath Hardage, Debroah Upton, Pat Collins and Melody Tresster, Shannon Appleman, Mike McDowell and Patrick Tully, Kelli Robertson, Dana Crane, Don Wilms and Michele Riedel, Ken Postal and Julie Bennett, and Carol Kelley join Manchester's team. Welcome.

Man Smith and Chester Brown, our school's news affiliates, deliver the year's information for you!

UPDATE:

Several new courses have been added to an already large variety of classes that students can take here at Manchester! Some of these classes include Biology 2 and Community Service 2. The faculty hopes that with the expanded schedule and more time during class periods, that the classes will encourage and inspire students to continue their education in a field of study they can enjoy. The new classes will begin during the 1996-1997 school year with the hopes that the students will attend and enjoy.

School Closings: Chesterfield County Schools Closed (twelve month employees report on code orange)************

MANCHE!STER

LIFESTYLES OF THE RICH AND FAMOUS . . . ..

Let's go to the mall . . . how about Laser Tag . . . no, the place to be is Richmond. Whatever your taste, Manchester students know that there is always somewhere to convene with friends. Whether popular bands play at a local Richmond club, or a sale on Gap sweaters takes the mall by storm, or someone decides to throw a monster party, Manchester's teens are out-and-about on the weekends. Life styles in Chesterfield may not always be rich or famous, but the kids of Manchester always display perfection. Even when there is absolutely nothing to do, meeting with friends and doing nothing with them is better than doing nothing alone.

FASHION FILE:

The top ten trends of the school year were . . . .

1.corduroy everything
2.fuzzy sweaters
3.baby doll t-shirts
4.mary janes
5.long silk skirts
6.black leather
7.various color hair
8.plastic barettes
9.initial jewelry
10.multi-colored fingernails

Manchester's fashion class students' projects show off our sense of style.

GOSSIP, GOSSIP, GOSSIP! . . .

Well, have I got something to tell you! All year, tongues wagged and rumors flew, but students discovered that word of mouth is not always the most reliable source. Some of the gossip we heard was, well, unbelievable. Would you ever have guessed?!?

*Mr. Smiley was once a professional WCW wrestler, and he still occasionally dons his sequined costume when no one is watching.

*After the last student leaves the building, the janitors blast country music over the PA system and square dance the night away.

*Every teacher of the school is a member of the Be As Cruel To Students As Possible Comittee.

Through It All . . . .

When "The Blizzard of '96" hit, MHS students decided to rent a comforting movie to aide their boredom. Some of the top movies rented over this "undesignated holiday" were "Dumb and Dumber," "Pulp Fiction," "Dazed and Confused," and "Dangerous Minds." Even though this activity doesn't sound very thrilling or exciting, it was, for some, the only thing left to do. When stranded, students would walk to their desired location; preferably, the movie store. Movie Time was extra crowded during this little disaster, and movies were being rented as if they were the last video on the planet. An employee of Movie Time, Raymond C. Crowder, stated "It was like people just regressed and anarchy reigned. Everyone was really mean and impolite." VCRs were rolling, students were walking, and the snow kept falling. Besides, what's wrong with a film when all you have to do is sit with your parents and watch horrid reruns of "The Waltons"?

COACH

This year has definitely been a remarkable one for the Manchester sports teams. The coaches had plenty to brag about with the big improvements of the football team in the fall, the hard work of the indoor track team and the basketball teams in the winter, and the excellent records of the softball and soccer teams in the spring. Although some of the teams had a tough season, they asked the fans to "Stay Tuned" because the teams will return next year to reap the awards of their experience and determination.

Today on Sports Center Live, hear the story of Manchester's Indoor Track team of 1995-96. This season proved to be an extremely difficult one for the training and improvement of the players. Some of the most dedicated members who attended every practice were denied a chance to prove themselves in an official meet due to the bad weather. Despite the team's troubles, the girls' team finished first in the district and third in the challenging regional meet. The boys' team completed their season by placing sixth in the district, and they were unable to attend the regional meet. The MVP's went to Starlett K. Farrior for field events, Kelly P.Thorton for running, and Ashley M. Augostini for best overall player. The track team met with success through the leadership of several experienced players who led the team by example. The Indoor Tack team's season can be described as they, "put out the time but they were unable to reap the awards" said Coach Sours. Better luck with the weather next year MHS Indoor Track team!

Johnson, who broke innumerable records in her great softball career here at Manchester, and Amy L. Campbell who was awarded co-MVP. The success of the Varsity team this year can be greatly attributed to the experience and leadership of the five senior captains: Melissa A. Fallen, Natasha K. Johnson, Amy L.Campbell, Heather C. Pierce, and Erin F. Lewis. The JV team achieved their preset goals throughout the season with their hardwork, determination, and talent. Congratulations to the softball players on their superb 1996 season!

The Varsity Girls' Soccer team completed the season with a record of 3-13, while the JV team finished with a record of 4-8-5. Placing fifth in the district, the Varsity team had a hard season, but "they always tried to improve, work hard, and never give up, and they had fun getting to know each other", says Coach Chaconas. This year's Varsity MVP award went to Senior, Whitney P. Matthews, while Katie A.Johnson won MVP for the JV team. The JV team experienced a learning season because they played against highly competitive teams, managing to keep the score low, while adjusting to the numerous injuries of the players. The Varsity Boys' Soccer team finished strong as usual, led by captains Travis W. Bayes, Andy K. Kish, and Brandon K. Smith. District and Regional Player of the Year, Johny I. O'Brien, equipped the team with a strong offense, while sophomore standouts Brad L. Bertolet and David M. Martin intimidated the rivals with their tenacious defense. The Varsity team finished second in the district and in the region even though the team was forced to overcome major injuries to key players. Meanwhile, the JV team played hard and finished with a record of 6-4-4 under the leadership of Travis O. Moss, who was later a key player on Varsity, and W. Austin Cutter. Members on this year's JV team should be important additions to the Varsity team next season. Solid Gold

The Solid Gold Lancer Dancers shined this year at the National Dancer Team Championship at Opryland in Nashville, Tennessee. Manchester's steller quality dancers stole the show with their high-energy performance, "Kitty" and "Janet". The girls received the title National Pom Pom Champions at the Preliminaries and went on to the Finals. At the Finals the top dance teams in the nation competed on the stage of the Grande Ole Opry. All their hard work paid off when the Lancer Dancers placed fourth in the nation thanks to the unity and spirit of the team and the hard work of the officers: Alison P. Surpless (capt.), Michelle E. Chappell (co-capt.), Ladonna K. Sewell, Shannon B. Taylor, Jessica L. Taylor, and Anna M. Perkins (squad leaders). The time, patience, and coaching of their sponsors, Elizabeth Likins and Nicole Winter, made the 1995-96 season a great success. Congratulations!

STEPPERS

Step By Step . . .
With the Lancer Steppers.
The Lancer Steppers team was formed two years ago under the sponsorship of Mrs. Brown. This year they gained recognition into the Manchester Sports Program. When a team is able to become a sport, it means that the members have worked hard, and they have been able to succeed and prove themselves worthy of being a sport. Becoming a Stepper requires much time and effort, but member Andrea Blunt says, "It's a lot of fun because you meet a lot of people." Because the Steppers are a newly organized team, they were unable to attend or perform in any special tournaments this year. Although the Steppers did not participate in any tournaments this year, they performed during pep rallies, football games, and basketball games, providing the student body with a wide range of entertainment and school spirit. We congratulate the Lancer Steppers on their acceptance into the MHS Sports Program.

The Lancer Steppers show their school spirit as they clap with great Manchester pride.

Tonight on Larry King Live . . .
The Manchester Speech and Debate team of 1995-96 had an outstanding year. The team competed in thirteen invitationals throughout the area, and eight competitors qualified for CFL states. In the VHSL competition, two members qualified for regionals, and Chris M. Cassano was chosen to attend the state tournaments that were held in Charlottesville. Throughout the year, the team participated in two national invitational tournaments; one in Philadelphia, and the other in Tennessee. The Speech and Debate team made Manchester proud with their excellent achievements in the many tournaments they participated in, including the national invitationals. According to coach, Mrs. Robertson, "the team did well as a whole due to their hard work and desire for achieving greatness." Congratulations to the Manchester Speech and Debate team!

"WALKING ON SUNSHINE" . . . The lights! The stage! The excitement! The fame! On Saturday, March 23,1996, members of Manchester High School's girls show choir, Touch of Swing,experienced all these and so much more! It was a time of true rejoicing for everyone. ACADEMICS
"Head of the Class"

Academics—The day begins at 7:25 with a quiz in math. Second period involves a Spanish celebration of Cinco de Mayo. The dreaded General Assembly project is assigned in third period, followed by copious notes on the ozone depletion in fourth. Fifth period yearbook deadline awaits—will we survive? The day ends with library research for the Shakespeare term paper. Education is not received; it is achieved. For many Lancers, school pride rests in knowing what it takes to get to the "head of the class."

Freshman Karen A. Breitenbach carefully selects a book from the plethora that Manchester High School library has to offer.

What Makes Class Fun?

. . . . . .

- Chance to discuss your own ideas.

- When the teachers relate the subjects to everyday teenage life.

- Having your friends in the same classes with you.

- Not doing the same things each day. Variety is the spice of life.

- The teacher must be excited about the class and have involvement with their students.

- The bell.

Nebraska Belle

Your face
The snow
The cold
The ground
My grave.
I'm here because of you!
I saw you —
in the snow
That night
That night after you left.
You had said something
I don't know
Something horrible —
And I hated you!

But I saw you
your face.
I had it in my head
in my hair
on my skin
but it disappeared into wet.
There you were those
horrible words
Spinning
Spitting back at me!
Well go —
I don't want you anyway
GO!
It was you who put me
here
That snow
Your face —
You deceived me.
I danced round and round
in the snow.
Catching face after face
All disappearing
like you.
It was cold but I didn't care.
I had to find you —
Those Words!
You said
My mind was . . .
My mind was . . .
I don't remember.
Your face
That horrible face
Swirling around my head.
Those Words
Your face
The cold
The snow
The ground
My grave.

"Here comes the bride!" The annual mock wedding was given by the Reverend Tom Dunkum of the United Methodist Church of Hopewell. The church graciously provided its facilities for both the church ceremony and the reception. This annual activity served as an attempt to help students realize the seriousness of a lifelong commitment. Over 125 students participated in the wedding. Many parents donated their expertise in music, cake decorating, flowers, and chaperoning. Gingiss Tuxes of Chesterfield Towne Center generously donated 25 tuxes, and 12 wedding gowns were previously donated. The mock wedding was a huge collaborative production and a super success. This year's spring play brought many unorthodox firsts, utilizing one-act plays and allowing student directors to show off their dramatic insights. Student directors include Melissa A. Patterson, Raymond J. Crowder, Robert N. Reese, and Jessica L. Ford. Carey J. Bosher did an excellent job as the lighting manager, and Schannel N. Brown operated the difficult sound system.

"I am the greatest seducer of other men's wives that I've ever met!"

"That man's been pestering me!" "Yes, well, there's a lot of strange characters around these docks at night, sir."

"The sneeze was no more than an innocent anatomical accident."

"A very charming play, don't you think?"

"I've been playing a cruel and thoughtless joke on you."

"Please, sir, won't you just hear me read?"

"Stairway to Heaven"

The 1996 Manchester Prom exceeded new heights this year when the Juniors presented "Stairway to Heaven" on May 4th at the VCU Ballroom (not at school). It was a great success after months of diligent work by the Junior officers. After fine dining students arrived at 8 p.m. decked out in glittering dresses and sporty tuxedos. An elegant evening awaited the young couples, ready to dance the night away. Halfway through the night, the Prom Court held their breath as Kevin S. Eaton and Alison P. Surpless were announced as King and Queen. The fun was not yet over; the party continued until 4 a.m. at Cloverleaf Mall. Lancers took their chance at a variety of casino games trying to win big bucks in the money machine. For seniors it was the end of their high school era, but for juniors it signified a beginning.

Following tradition, couples enjoy themselves while dancing.

After being crowned King and Queen, Kevin S. Eaton, and Alison P. Surpless share their special moment.

Megan A. Hall keeps the prom court in line.

Priscilla M. Dodson and Brad E. Richardson chat about how beautiful the decorations were.

Slowing it down, couples share a love song.

Andra L. Teten and her date lead the way for the prom court.

Students pick up the pace and get things moving.

Jennifer M. Overbaugh and John Garrett bust a move.

The crownbearers proceed the prom court to crown the 1996 King and Queen.

Victor P. Torres makes way for the prom court.

Rashida Robertson and David Brinkley take a break from dancing to talk about the evening.

Ashley B. Abercrombie and her date, and Marci W. Powers and Emerson L. Seitter embrace each other during a quiet moment.

After Prom Party

On Tuesday March 19th, the battle between the Faculty and students began, the Senior vs. Faculty basketball game. The game was extremely close with both teams scoring big. At halftime the slam dunk contest between the Seniors was won by Lee Farrior. Although the Faculty tried to show the Lancer Seniors up the mighty Seniors prevailed and showed that you can't stop them, you can only hope to contain them. By the end of the game, the Seniors had a victorious win over the Faculty by a score of 52-54.

SENIOR BANQUET

Tony W. Webb catches some seniors on his video of the senior year. What a great way to keep memories.

Senior friends share dinner at the Holiday Inn Kroger Center.

Senior class officers rehearse the class history. Everyone gets a laugh when they travel together through the past four years.

Brian S. George displays perfectly the selection of C.D's to choose from as door prizes given away at the banquet.

Members of Capital Swing graced the seniors with a moving version the The King Singers' "Lonesome Road."

Seniors line up for the recessional into the auditorium. The line seems to get longer each year.

Andra L. Teten hands beautiful red roses to the seniors who are lined up. Andra is a junior marshall this year.

Senior Assembly

This year the seniors anxiously awaited the Senior Assembly. The morning began with a breakfast honoring the class of '96 and a pre-assembly to award school awards like senior superlatives. The girls received red roses to accompany their white dresses. Mild chaos erupted when it was time to line up for the processional into the auditorium; the line stretched all the way outside near the parking lot, but everyone quickly got organized. Though it was lengthy, it was very worthwhile to see who received scholarships and special recognitions. To top off the event, the most outstanding senior, Jitan N. Naran was announced. Hats off to the class of '96!

Jennifer E. Reece graciously accepts her yearbook award for dedication to the staff from Ms. Dabney.

The friendly junior marshalls serve the seniors pastries with a smile.

Seniors enjoy a diet of orange juice, milk, and delectable pastries at the annual senior breakfast.

The superlative for "Best of Friends" went to the most deserving group of "buds" to enter and leave Manchester.

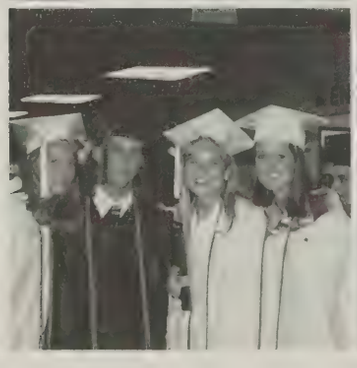
Graduation

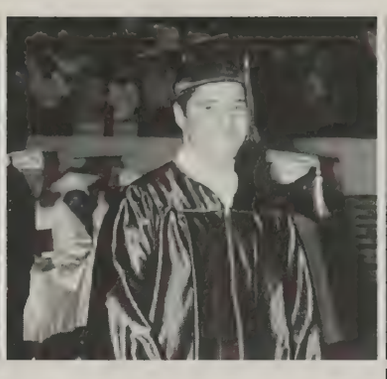
The Finale of the Class of 1996

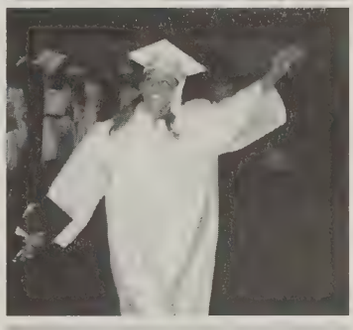
At long last, the graduating class of 1996 grasped their diplomas and took strides into a prosperous future. On June 14, 1996, at the Richmond Coliseum, seniors of Manchester High School and close family and friends celebrated the end of four glorious years in high school. Sarah L. Malone, the class president, addressed her peers for the last time; Jiten N. Naran also gave a farewell speech as the valedictorian. Mrs. Frances Arbaugh said a few words to the graduating class as the main speaker, and Manchester was honored with three dignitaries: Dr. Henry Johnson, Mr. Thomas Wooton, and Ms. Renny Bush-Humphrey. Excitement filled the atmosphere as the senior class walked proudly and honorably to receive their certificate of merit. Even though the auspicious event was cheerful, sorrow entered those who would miss old friendships and old acquaintances. Mr. Koste's booming voice, recognizing the top ten students of the class, fell on distant ears. The minds of the graduates were far away, remembering times shared and friends made. As each student returned to his or her seat and moved the tassel on each mortar board from left to right, sighs and tears echoed throughout the coliseum. Casual acquaintances met in high school suddenly felt like irreplaceable companions for life. For many, the realization finally came: although it was a time to say hello to the future, this was also a day for saying goodbye to the past. And one thought was on the mind of every student . . . "So long, farewell, I bid you all goodbye . . . "

Different Kinds of Good-by
by Carl Sandberg

Good-by is a loose word, a yellow ribbon fluttering in the wind.
Good-by is a stiff word, a steel slide rule—a fixed automatic phone number.
A thousand people? And you must say good-by to all? One at a time?—yes, I guess you need a thousand different good-bys.
There is a good-by for the Johnsons and another for the Smiths and another for the Poindexters and the Van Rensselaers.
And there is the big grand good-by to the thousand all at once, the whole works.







"Where are you going, my little one, little one? Where are you going, my baby, my own?"
-Turn Around, performed by Capital Swing at the Senior Assembly.

Community

A Word from Our Sponsors . . .

It's that time again, kids! A word from our sponsor, the community. Our community has helped to fund Manchester's yearbook, athletics, and other organizations. And we gave back. Community service classes spent all year organizing the school blood drives, working with Manchester's SPD students, volunteering at local elementary schools, and much more. With the help of Mrs. Thorpe, the community service sponsor, students truly have shown that they are in tune with the community.

Jami S. Treadway takes time out of her schedule to read a storybook to her friend, Anthony, from Alberta Smith.

Thanks to the dedicated work of this year's business manager, Marvin J. Boyd, and his assisstant, Ryan D. McClay, yearbook finances are a success!

Justin H. Johnson, one of Manchester's SPD students, fondly points out a picture of himself and a community service student.

David H. Newsome helps an Alberta Smith student put the straw in his juice box during lunch.

What kinds ofcommunity service work do you do out of school? . . . . . .

- neighborhood clean-up

- hospital volunteer work

- boy scouts

- girl scouts

- Lukemia Research fundraiser

- volunteer work at the fire station

- helping teachers at local elementary schools

- church volunteer work

Baccalaureate

At Swift Creek Baptist Church

On Sunday June 9, 1996 the rain didn't stop seniors from gathering together for a common purpose. That purpose was to worship together under one roof and thank God and country for the past 18 years of our lives. The church was beautiful and proved to be the perfect place for this time of rejoicing and praising. Peyton N. Owens, the student speaker addressed the audience with great eloquence. Mrs. Betsy Murray touched the hearts of everyone there by talking of forgiving and forgetting people who have hurt you. She has been an inspirational part of many seniors' lives. The Chamber choir sang in honor of the seniors, and Benjamin C. Murray received a standing ovation for his emotional rendition of "His Eyes are on the Sparrow." We now all know that He watches over us.

Baccalaureate Notes :

Peyton Owens, Student Speaker :
Remember the six P's :
Proper prior planning
prevents poor performance.

Mrs. Murray, Faculty Speaker :
There were once three trees on the top of a mountain and...

Tree number one wanted to become a treasure chest. However, the tree became an animal trough that was eventually used for the Savior's manger.

Tree number two wanted to become a powerful ship. However, the tree became a small sailing vessel and was caught in a powerful storm that was eventually rescued when God calmed the seas.

Tree number three wanted to stay in the forest as a reflection of God and the heavens. However, the tree was made into a cross and Jesus was nailed upon it.

Miss Cashmere congratulates Peyton N. Owens for his inspiring address.

The Class of 96 leaves the service with beaming smiles and infinite wisdom for the long road ahead.

Mrs. Betsy Murray delivers a powerful sermon urging students to keep their eyes on the sparrow.

Did You Know That Manchester Is On The Net?

Not Only Does Manchester Have An Internet WEB Site, But We Also Run Our Own Computer Bulletin Board System!

During the 1995-96 school year, the Manchester Computer Club made history when it successfully became the first high school in Chesterfield County to run its own Computer Bulletin Board System. (BBS) Manchester's BBS allows students to send E-mail and send and retrieve files.

Daniel Geary, sponsor of the Computer Club, works hard to keep the club organized.

The Manchester Computer Club also created an outstanding WEB Site for Manchester which has earned the respect of faculty and administrators around the county. The club hopes to maintain the site for years to come!

Manchester is setting the precedent for other schools in telecommunication advances! If you are interested in WEB Publishing, the Computer Club would be more than happy to help your school, organization, or company! Contact us at :

Jimmy Jet and His TV Set

I'll tell you the story of Jimmy Jet—
And you know what I tell you is true.
He loved to watch his TV set
Almost as much as you.

He watched all day, he watched all night
Till he grew pale and lean,
From "The Early Show" to "The Late Late Show"
And all the shows between.

He watched till his eyes were frozen wide,
And his bottom grew into his chair.
And his chin turned into a tuning dial,
And antennae grew out of his hair.

And his brains turned into TV tubes,
And his face to a TV screen.
And two knobs saying "VERT." and "HORIZ."
Grew where his ears had been.

And he grew a plug that looked like a tail
So we plugged in little Jim.
And now instead of him watching TV
We all sit around and watch him.

Congratulations, My Dear Grand-daughter!

I mean this from the bottom of my heart!
I will never forget the first time I saw you.
I said to myself, "This girl is surely smart!"
As you walk down the halls of life, knock on every door.
After twelve years of school, this is what you have been prepared and waiting for.

I have watched you grow from an infant to a young woman. The pride that you exhibit, the respect that you have for yourself and others allows me to lift my voice and say "This girl is surely smart! This young lady is my grand-daughter."

Don't let anyone or anything detour or obstruct your path or your vision to obtain happiness and success.

I love you!!!!

For My Daughter Corie

I became a teenage mother on the day of your birth.
Totally unprepared for the life you will have upon this earth.
But since that time my daughter, you and I have grown together.
We've enjoyed sun filled days and endured dark stormy weather.

I was a young mother and you were just a mere child on a crusade.
When we both turned into activists for the cause of HIV and AIDS.
But since that time my daughter; together . . . just you and me.
We educated a world in which closed eyes now see.

You were 12 years old when we moved to this state.
Again as a mother I was unaware of our fates.
But together you and I, just you and me alone.
We have turned an empty house into a blessed home.

Corie, I know that I may not have fulfilled all your needs.
But I have given you the basics & in you I have planted seeds.
Seeds of Knowledge, Wisdom and an open mind for Under standing;
A world that is often at times very cruel & terribly demanding.

I watched you transform from a seed into who you are today.
A strong young African-American woman that will pave her own way.
A woman that is unafraid to go into battle and fight.
A woman that will stand up for what is fair, for what is right.

Within you are that spirits of great women born decades before you.
Their history of heroic tales show the impossible can come true.
I was a teenage mother on the day of your birth.
Today I am the proud mother of a young woman making her mark on this earth.

Love always and forever,
Mommy

Tension Rocks Manchester During First Weeks

by Ryan Davis
Photos by Shane Horn

Tension was thick in the air during the first few months of the 1995-1996 school year here at Manchester. A bomb threat, fights in the cafeteria mistaken as riots by the local news media, and newly discovered racial problems made Manchester look scary to both parents and students. Problems began when a deflamatory spraypainting was put up in one of the boys' bathrooms. This picture caused a backlash of events that made many students uncomfortable. The spraypainting was quickly painted over, and it was believed that much of the tension was erased with it, but the problems were just starting. Two weeks later the commons was turned into a boxing ring, as a misunderstanding during lunch ended in fists flying. The media took the story to the extreme as that night on the local news, students could watch reports on a riot in the school cafeteria as two Manchester students were arrested on charges of inciting a riot. In a little under 24 hours, Manchester had its first official bomb threat. At 11:20 a.m. students were evacuated in an unusual fashion. An announcement was made over the intercom that all students were to remain in class until an administrator or other faculty member was to come and retrieve them to evacuate the school. Students were led to the field behind the school, the baseball fields, and the road going to the "bottom." They stood there for about a half-hour while the administration conversed with law-enforcement officials and mapped out their strategy on keeping all of the students out of danger. Plans were finalized and the 2100 students of Manchester were led to the football stadium where they were crowded onto bleachers. While waiting for their chance to get back into the building to pick up their personal belongings, students were enlightened to the situtation by Principal Koste. They were told that L.C. Bird High School had received a call telling of a bomb to ignite at 11:30 a.m. which caused the evacuation. Also addressed was the current race relations at Manchester and that the picture in the bathroom was being investigated. The final issue spoken about was a stricter policy on fights in the school because students were glorifying rather than shunning the violence at lunches. Eventually students were told that they would be able to leave the school by bus, or if they drove they were dismissed. By that time, the media was swarming on the grounds, and many students were interviewed by various formats for the nightly news or tomorrow's front page. It was the first time that the school had been displayed in a negative light, and hopefully it would be the last.

This is the field that students were first led before being taken to the stadium.

"The Bottom" became home for students for a few hours while administrators sorted out the problems of the bomb threat.

Manchester Finds Local Scene

Inside these red and grey walls, life and self expression do exist. The musical aspect of Manchester not only varies considerably, but each style has its own unique flair and individual quality. From the R & B masters, "Balance," the powerful grooves of "Kicked In Ribs," the smooth rhythms of "Nostalgik Manor," the disjointed points of view of "Top Heavy" and "The Warheads," acting kind of crazy in that "Saved by the Bell" way. Yet, all these different types of music have one thing in common, and that is their sheer talent. The local scene, as far as Manchester is concerned, is diverse and ultimately breaking ground. M.O.R.P., the backwards prom, opened the doors for the local bands at Manchester to show off their musical abilities. Not only that, but the reputable S.C.A. decided to uplift the event by having live music. Mr. Felts, a guidance counselor, and Miss Dabney, a.k.a. "Special K," sponsored and helped the total organization of the dance as well as incorporated the bands' participation. Variety and talent go hand in hand, and it is a good thing Manchester local bands are not afraid to step up and display their ability.

In the words of the Brady kids, "all these bands are happening in a really far out way!"

Kicked in Ribs excites the crowd by delivering malicious melodies of utter chaos.

Top Heavy proclaims unity while intensely displaying their unique style.

AN AUSPICIOUS OCCASSION?

Manchester's halls were quiet the day of the Senior Assembly. 354 students stayed home that day.

On Memorial day, students enjoyed an uneventful lunch as 675 students decided to extend the holiday weekend.

Empty desks were a common sight on the days of the school assemblies.

Why students don't take part in school festivities and events.

In the last few weeks of school, it seems that when a special occasion is in the schedule for the school day, many students decide to stay home and take the day off. An example of the lack of attendance is the day of the Senior Assembly. The problem wasn't the underclassmen not showing, but the seniors themselves. The choral and band productions sent many students home "ill," or "out of town." The administration has done everything in its power to stop these days of just "taking a break." The popular "Senior Skip Day" was addressed as a "Day for Dyk." Dr. Dyk told the seniors in attendance the day of the senior class picture that there was no skip day. Yet, to show how serious skipping was on the Monday after prom, many teachers did not accept make-up work. Also, to have a good senior attendance at the Senior Assembly, many teachers assigned papers and projects due the morning of the assembly. One unexpected calendar change was having to attend school on Memorial Day due to the Blizzard of '96. This hasn't been a sanctioned day in Chesterfield County Schools history since 1983. It's understandable that the adminstration can't catch everyone; its just a shame that kids who work hard to display their talents, and be rewarded for academic ability, are shunned by the school community because of farce excuses by students.

Piercing your tongue might hurt, but Kelly A. Fringer certainly pulled it off.

Holey Hobby Occupies Students

The diversity in Manchester is far beyond the normal standard. One characteristic trait that stands out from the rest are the unique body piercings. For instance, a perfect touch for a young girl would be a belly button ring or the inner ear pierced at the top. For guys and girls, it would be both ears, and if you had the nerve, you could pierce your septum, or more commonly called, the nose. You could pierce your nostril, your lip, your eyebrow, your nipples, and even your tongue. These different types of styles have made the school an interesting place to be educated while still being intrigued.

Jessica N. Nunnanly unveils her belly button which is pierced twice.

Even the eyebrow, shown here by Niki Geter, can be easily pierced.

Freaky Friday

It's no big secret that Manchester is home to a very large and diverse student body. Many problems have erupted as a result of this diversity, yet on the night of M.O.R.P., petty indifferences were set aside in exchange for a night of plain old harmonious fun. Different styles of music were represented, and all of Manchester's top bands showed off their impressive talent.

There were reports later of some heckling, but Mr. Felts and the S.C.A. pulled through to ensure that the primary objective of the night — having a good time — continued to be the focal point. Among the bands featured were Top Heavy, with drummer Ryan Parrish pictured at right; Kicked In Ribs, also shown at right with a separate picture of lead singer Chris Robson; Balance and Nostalgic Manner.

We want to say good-bye

to those we'll remember
From the beginning of September

Sorry you have to go
But we want you to know

Even though you'll be gone
Your memory will be around for long.

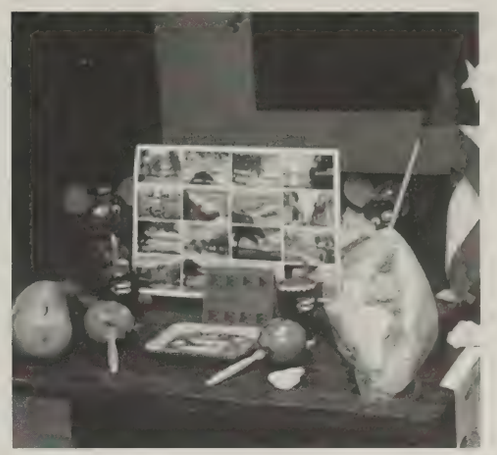
CULTURE FEST

From dyshieckies to modern dress, people show how fashion has changed over the years.

The Puerto Rican and African cultures display their cultural backgrounds.



A taste of many different foods overflow the table from many different cultures.

Expression of the African culture, through dance, captivates the spirit of the fest.

A variety of clothes were displayed at the Clothes Fest.

The first Culture Fest held by the two year old club, UMOJA, was an unprecedented breakthrough. Since most students and faculty members depict UMOJA as being a "black club", the idea of highlighting all cultures in Manchester was seen as a way to promote the sole purpose of UMOJA;Unity.

In the fall of 1995, Manchester's eyes were finally opened to the need for cultural awareness when racial tension caused a public scandal. Consequently, focus groups, called Phoenix Groups, were established to discuss the problem and offer suggestion and solutions. They too, saw the need to recognize all people, through cultures, at MHS. Thus, UMOJA joined forces with the Phoenix Groups to finally implement a Culture Fest.

An excerpt from the play "Guys and Dolls" represents New York at its best.

The first Culture Fest included African Dancing, Liberian Fashions, Puerto Rican Culture, Step performanes, singers, and an excerpt from "Guys and Dolls" representing New York. Manchester's own French, Spanish, German, and Japanese clubs all contributed with informative displays. The fest included a variety of delectable foods from Puerto Rican, African, West Indian, German, American, and Spanish cultures. The Culture Fest's music, dance, food, fashion, and fun was entertaining for all. This fest was a pleasant eye-opening, cultural experience for Manchester.

Tara E. Mounts and Miss Cashmere argue playfully over a story for the yearbook.

Trudy H. Hopkins searches for a meaningful quote for the academic section of the yearbook.

Ryan M. Davis, Amanda L. Griffin, and Shannon M. Hardison concentrate on completing a layout for deadline.

Paul J. Hager works hard on a layout for the club section.

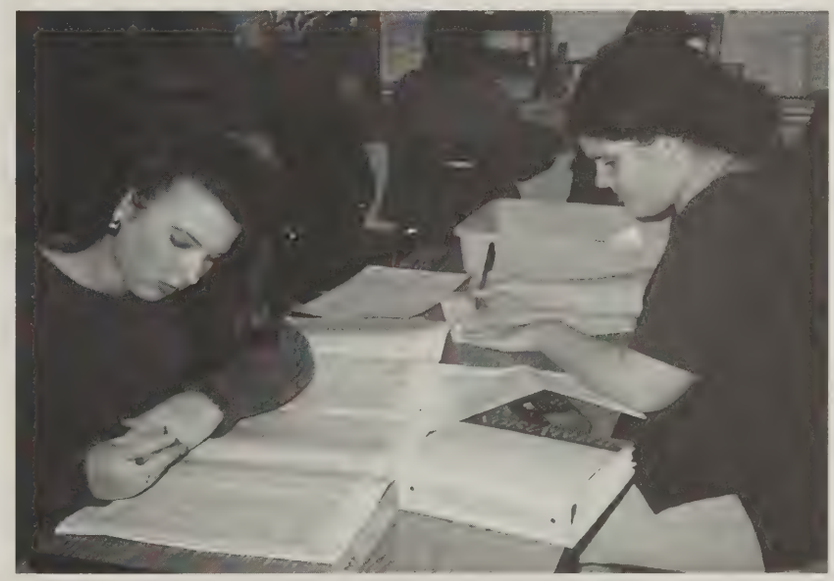
Inside our school walls are the editions of the future, the so called "Next Generation" of what is to come. Part of this process of moving on is the realization that things must change. Nothing stays the same forever. That's a fact. But you don't have to forget. "These are the best of times and the worst of times", and these are the times that will always last thanks to the hard work of the Memoir staff. With the "Full House" freshman taking over the halls, the "Growing Pains" of the sophomores, the many new "Friends" made within the juniors, and the celebration and "Cheers" of the seniors, the year was full of so much, it would be hard to forget. But down the road, it is going to be important for you to remember. Reflecting on the past is a way to never give up on the present good times. Although things weren't always easy for the staff, they never questioned "Who's the Boss" and were able to get everything done on time. Layouts were drawn, copy was written, and deadlines were met. And all this so you, the students of MHS, could stay tuned into the best years of your life!

Tara E. Mounts and Travelle H. Seabrook contemplate preparing pictures for a section.



Rebecca M. Amason and Mackenzie L. Clements plan ahead for the 95-96 yearbook.

NEW YORK UNDERCOVER

Give My Regards To Broadway

On March 12, 1996, 9 anxious students and 2 courageous teachers embarked on a trip to New York City. They were there to attend the Scholastic Journalism Conference at Columbia University. The journalism class learned new techniques in selling, writing, and surviving "in the jungle." Outside of the conference, we all had to learn to get along for 5 days. When we left we were all closer and knew we had gained new frienships that would last for life.

The wonderment of Times Square astounded the journalism students.

WORK WITH ME!

A tour of the cold city on the last day.

WHOA NELLIE

HOW BOUT THEM WEASLES

GOD LOVE US

In a city like New York it's nice to know you can feel secure.

The gnarly Hard Rock Cafe.

I WANT TO GET ON THE BUS

Just for the thrill of it, just for the chill of it, just for the taste of it!

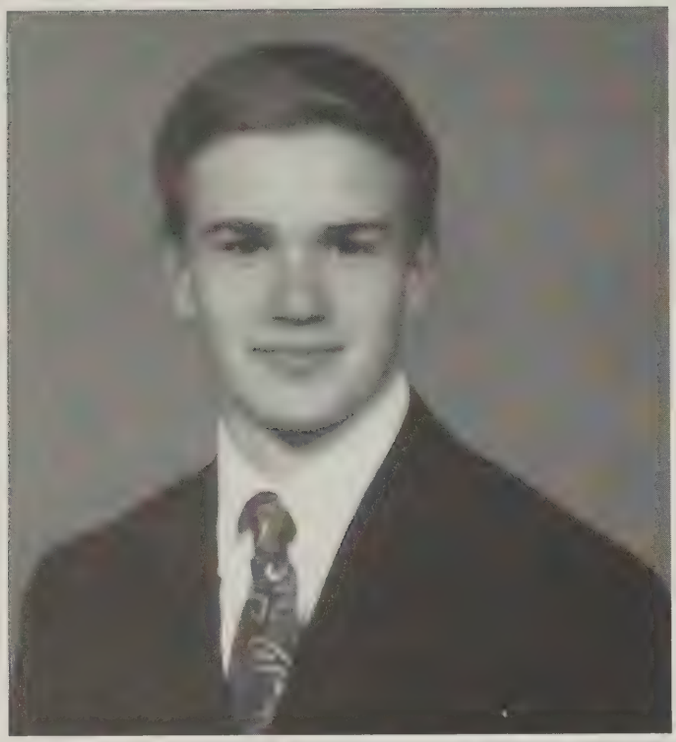
DO YOU HAVE ANYMORE TOWELS, I FLOODED THE BATHROOM?

The main library at Columbia University.

This is how we truly felt at the end of our journalism trip.

Memorial

In Loving Memory Of



Daniel B. Mann

Neff S. Walker

Bereavement in their death to feel
Whom We have never seen-
A Vital Kinmanship import
Our Souls and theirs- between-

For Stranger- Strangers do not mourn-
There be Immortal friends
Whom Death see first- 'tis news of this
That paralyze Ourselves-

Who, vital only to Our Thought-
Such Presence bear away
In dying- 'tis as if Our Souls
Absconded- suddenly-

-Emily Dickinson

You lived your life with conviction
for what you felt was right;
You never gave up your principles
without a decent fight.

Your hopes and dreams remind me
of all things to be gracious;
Your mind was a genuine gift
and your laughter was contagious.

Music was your one true love
of that I'm sure it's true;
Your memory holds a special place;
I was so proud of you.

Your loss has taught me so many things;
Your presence I still feel;
Although I can't see or touch you,
I know the feeling's real.

I will be a messenger
to do what you have done,
to make the world a better place
in Honor of you, my Son.

With sadness I will go on;
The sun will rise each day,
but it will never shine the same
now that you've gone away.

SEASON FINALE

A Farewell

My fairest child, I have no song to give you;
No lark could pipe to skies so dull and gray,
Yet, ere we part, one lesson I can leave you
For everyday.

Be good and sweet, and let who will be clever;
Do noble things, not dream them, all day long.
And so make life, death, and that vast forever
One grand, sweet song.
